

Mr. James started dancing at the age of 12 and joined a dance company called Center for Creative Education (Energy Dance Company). He danced with them until the age of 19 then decided to take his craft and share it with others who have the same passion. He began to teach at various studios including Roz's Dance Works, Petite Productions, Isabelle School of Dance, Gina Marie's Dance Academy and more. While he was at Roz's Dance Works he helped create an amazing dance team that won many competitions and attended multiple community events like Winter Walk, Pumpkin Walk, and Hudson's Cultural Fest in addition to performances at Livingston Hills, the Dutchess County Fair, and the Columbia County Fair. He has students who have attended Julliard, opened their own studios, and who are teaching at various studios. He has been teaching and coaching for over 10 years and will continue to share his passion with his students.
